World re-knowned as well as Australia's Leading Game Fish Artist!

David Mellor was born in 1954, he displayed a talent for drawing and painting at an early age. His teachers recommended going to art school, instead he joined the Royal Air Force at the age of fifteen as an aeronautical engineer.

After fifteen years in the RAF David emigrated to Australia and took up painting full-time.

David was elected International Billfish Organisation Artist of the Year in 2001, and had a highly successful one-man show at the International Game Fish Association Hall of Fame in Ft. Lauderdale.

His work is represented in the collections of President George Bush Senior, Conrad Black, ex-President Suharto and private buyers in Australia, the USA and Great Britain.
